

FRANCE RUSHING UP MORE TROOPS; FEARS FURTHER REBELLION IN RUHR

PEACE TALK IN CAPITAL OF THE U.S.

WASHINGTON, January 26.—(By the United Press)—The senate is on the eve of another open discussion of international relations. Definite expressions of senatorial opinion that this government ought not remain longer aloof seems certain to be forthcoming. Many of both parties believe the Franco-German situation should not be permitted to develop to its logical conclusion. That conclusion many senators fear will be war or if not that, an accentuation of present world turmoil which will still further depress American markets, curtail American industries and hurt the farmer. Administration leaders admitted today they would not be surprised to see the senate adopt Senator Borah's resolution for an international conference which Borah announced today he would introduce, probably next Monday. "The American people," Borah said, "want their government to wield its tremendous influence in an effort to straighten out the snarl which France's action and the general disagreement over reparations has created." The impending senatorial debate may be brought on by Secretary Hughes' communications with Senator Lodge on the status and activities of Roland A. Boyden, American unofficial representative on the reparations commission. Analyzed by senators, Hughes' position was regarded as showing conclusively that Boyden and this government were careful to repeat that he was there unofficially, nevertheless occupied a position virtually as influential as though he had been official with the single exception that he had no vote on the commission. The foreign relations committee met to take up the Hughes communication and a number of documents submitted by the secretary.

Would Call Peace Conference
WASHINGTON, January 26.—(By the United Press)—A resolution calling on the president to convene a world peace conference in Washington was introduced in the house today by Representative Chalmers, Republican of Ohio. The resolution asks for the appointment of a committee of ten members each from the house and senate to urge the president to assemble the leading nations of the world here to consider and work out a specific plan for world stabilization. The resolution also calls on the president to formulate agenda and issue the invitation in the name of the people of the United States.

Drop Robinson Resolution
The senate foreign relations committee today dropped the Robinson resolution to give the United States official representation the reparations commission. Individual members of the committee will not let the matter drop, but probably will demand that Roland W. Boyden and his staff of unofficial American observers on the commission be ordered to return to the United States.

She even positively identified a negro as the murderer. The case seemed a closed incident until the arrest of the crippled girl and her two brothers—Horace 23, and Bernard, 25.

Outbreaks Smoldering In German Districts; Guns Trained On German Cities

(By the United Press)
The French outlined the industrial Ruhr with an arc of steel today past which no fuel for Germany may be moved. Extensive troop movements were reported along the "new border," strategic points on east bound railway lines were seized, the customs barrier was strengthened with machine guns, and field guns were trained on several cities where rebellion seems smoldering. The blockade line ran through Dortmund, Castrop and Recklinghausen in an arc of bayonets. Troops were moved up to reinforce the customs line. Guards were placed on railway lines. French cavalry clattered through the streets of Essen. Troop movements were partially shielded by censorship. Many arrests were made in Dueseldorf as a result of disturbances in which crowds stoned French troops and two civilians were trampled in a cavalry charge. A report from Paris said a general strike was on at Treves, while Berlin dispatches state a state of siege had been declared in the Rhineland city.

LONDON, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Britain regards the Ruhr situation as serious. The Premier, Bonar Law, for one, is understood to favor immediate withdrawal of British troops from the Rhine. The cabinet met today once more to consider withdrawal, and only intense desire to avoid a further split in the entente with the French prevents immediate order to the effect that all Rhine troops come home. Decision will probably be against withdrawal, because it is felt that this would increase Germany's truculence, but there is no question that Britain views with increasing alarm disturbances in the Ruhr such as those at Dueseldorf and Essen last night. British sympathy is unquestionably with France. German stupidity is blamed for the Raseo.

DESULTORY FIRING STOPPED BY FRENCH

DUESSELDORF, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Desultory rifle firing which was in progress in various parts of the city throughout the evening, ceased at a late hour when French cavalry and infantry patrols cleared the streets. At midnight Dueseldorf was outwardly calm. Two Germans were reported wounded during the course of the disturbance, which started early in the evening when a mob celebrated simultaneously the return of Fritz Thyssen and a two-hour protest strike. That more persons were not hurt, was due to the fact that sentries and patrols had orders to fire into the air and only shoot to kill should the crowd refuse to break up.

RUSH MORE TROOPS TO THE RUHR

The French are under no illusion as to the seriousness of the situation and two more army corps are being rushed from Alsace Lorraine. Martial law may be declared immediately should there be any attempt to repeat the manifestations of last evening. The telegraph service was resumed at eight o'clock last night, but the railroad strike is still effective. A serious outbreak at Essen was averted only when General Fournier sent for Burgomaster Luther and showed him a military map of the city on which were four red circles designating the location of the French and Belgian forces.

FRENCH OFFICER WARNS THE PEOPLE

"Tell your people they must refrain from any attack upon our troops or we shall open fire upon the rest of the city," said General Fournier to the Burgomaster. The Dueseldorf disorder centered around the Friedenbacher Hotel which has been practically requisitioned for the French officers. The latter display much courage under the taunts and insults heaped upon them. One colonel disarmed his aid de camp who had drawn a revolver and was ready to fire upon the crowd. "You wait my orders before shooting," the colonel told his aid. The latter reluctantly obeyed.

The French admit that the court martial at Mayence made a mistake in permitting Fritz Thyssen to return to the Ruhr, as his arrival is believed to have been the signal for a mobilization of young men in the Rhineland and the Ruhr. One hundred thousand Ruhr workers are said to be on strike today or slightly less than 20 per cent of the total. Meanwhile, the economic life of the region is practically at a standstill. The French thus far after two weeks of the occupation, have not been able to get enough out of the Ruhr to meet expense of their military operation and maintain their troops. "Some thing must give or crack, Germany or France must yield. France must not," it was said officially at headquarters. (Continued on Page Nineteen)

Have Never Qualified

COLUMBUS, O., January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Two members of the eighty-fifth assembly, elected last November, have never qualified for their seats because of illness. One of these, Senator W. A. Clark, of Urbana, representing the combined 11th and 12th districts, may not be able to attend the sessions at all. The other, Mrs. Lulu T. Gleason, representative from Lucas county, expects to be able to take her seat next week.

Senator Clark is suffering from a throat infection developing as the result of tonsillitis. The precise character of the infection has not been determined and he may be brought to Columbus for hospital treatment. Mrs. Gleason has been suffering from a nervous breakdown, but is reported considerably improved. She became ill upon her return from the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Philadelphia, antedating the opening of the state assembly.

"FAIR AND WARMER A SCREAM"

It might be well for a husband to be good, but in the case of the situation in Avery Hopwoods' farce comedy, now showing at the Sun Theater, by the Jack Ball Stock Co., being too good, doesn't work well either.

Billy Bartlett is a model husband, but his wife cares for excitement and pleasure more than for her home. She philanders off with a friend to a theater party leaving hubby at home. Jack Wheeler also is prone to play too much poker, and also leaves his innocent little wife at home. Mrs. Wheeler and Mr. Bartlett plan revenge and imbibe just a bit too freely with some alcoholic beverages, and when the other wife and husband return, they find to their dismay and surprise that the innocent ones have been up all the night waiting for them in a condition, which was very unlike them. The Jack Ball cast has never been seen to better advantage than in this attraction. Alex Macin-

Josh as Billy Bartlett, and Florence Lewin as "Mrs. Wheeler" had the audience splitting their sides with laughter. George Whitaker and Eva Sargent as the other sides of the families seemed to have just been made for these roles. Philip Evans was given a deft touch of character by Edwin Scribner. Vera Reno made an ideal "Tessie," and Jack Ball and Francis Dorce rounded out what is the best cast seen in any play this season.

"Peg O' My Heart" was announced for production Monday with a souvenir photograph free with every paid admission on Monday evening.

Convict Bandit

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26.—It required a jury only three minutes today to convict George Johnson on charges of assault to rob. This is the shortest time a jury ever took to consider a case here, prosecutor Edward C. Stanton said.

Johnson was one of four men who attempted to rob the Carnegie Drug Company here several weeks ago. One of the bandits was shot and instantaneously killed and Johnson was wounded by the police bullets. The other two will go on trial tomorrow and until their cases are disposed of sentence on Johnson is being withheld.

The penalty provides terms of one to fifteen years in the Pen.

CHILL HAS TWO OFFERS
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 26.—Ollie Chill, veteran baseball umpire, formerly of the American League, declared today he had received two offers to umpire in other circuits, but he has not decided whether he will remain in baseball. Although President Ray Johnson recently announced, Chill would not be reappointed, Chill said he had heard nothing officially from the head of the American League.

OUR SHARE IN PORTSMOUTH'S GROWTH

The Royal Savings and Loan Company has been an incidental factor in the growth of Portsmouth.

It has been directly responsible for the erection of a large number of houses. It has been the means of enabling a great number of young people to purchase their own homes, and to pay for them in a sensible, thrifty way.

Any Institution that creates wealth in the form of houses, which enables people to purchase homes, and which encourages thrift and sane living is a real factor in a community's progress.

Dry Agents Make Raid

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prohibition enforcement agents late today raided the Cosmopolitan Drug Company in Christie Street and seized liquors valued by them at $300,000. Alfred Tienmu, president of the concern, and David Kahn, treasurer, were arrested.

The raid was said to have been one of the largest engineered in the state. The booty included whiskey, wine, champagne, coloring liquid,
wood and denatured alcohol, whiskey labels and a complete loading outfit.
Authorities said the company had a permit to deal in liquors under the restrictions of the prohibition amendment until 1921, but had not had a permit since.

Rector Neither Recants Nor Offers To Resign

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension, whose recent sermons denigrating the divinity of Christ, brought from Bishop William T. Manning a demand that he "recant or resign" today, replied to the bishop with a long letter, quoting ecclesiastical authorities for the statements he made, and concluding:

"If at any time I have seemed to express myself crudely, I sincerely regret it."

Dr. Grant neither recanted nor offered to resign his rectorship. His letter was a ten page plea for enlightenment and liberty for the pulpit. "In one place he quoted the following 'sober words of Bishop Gore in a book which last Lent you (Bishop Manning) commended to the diocese':

"It is pitiful to see how many there are among the professed ministers of Christ, who, in an hour of popular discussion of some vital truth, are proved by their perplexity or dismay, or by their unrestricted denunciations never to have thought at all seriously or deeply about momentous questions."

In concluding Dr. Grant said: "I would say examine with St. Paul that the Lord (I. e. the Christ of experience) is the 'spirit.' Might I venture to add the conclusion of his sentence?
'Where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty'."

And there is a postscript. Dr.
Grant added:

"In accord with example set by you,
I am giving copies of this letter to the press."

Churchmen were not agreed today
as to whether the refusal of the Rev.
Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension to recant his belief that Christ when on earth did not have the power of God, would result in a trial for heresy, as was indicated by Bishop William T. Manning in his recent letter criticizing Dr. Grant for pulpit utterances.

Dr. Grant re-stated his belief regarding the Divinity of Christ. He said that he could not accept literally the story that Christ walked on the water because given the humanity of Christ, that would violate the law of gravitation. He declared he could not love God with his mind and at the same time believe that the laws of God were ever violated. He denied disloyalty to Christ, or to the church, but declared the limit of belief to be the truth. He said that to him the language of the apostles creed was symbolic.

He called Jesus the "portrait of the invisible God, the revelation of the Heavenly Father," but asserted he did not know "what the metaphysical

Funds To Prevent Closing Of Schools Assured

COLEMBUS, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press).—East Liverpool's public school system, threatened with a shut-down on March 1, because of lack of funds, will continue operation on money furnished from the state fund for the aid of weak school districts. It was indicated here today at a conference between an East Liverpool citizens' committee and director of education Vernon
M. Hiegel.

The committee, led by W. H. Volrey, East Liverpool attorney, first conferred with Governor Donahy and later met the director of education who told them that if it were certified by the county auditor, that a three mill school levy, as required by law, had been voted by the school district, state aid funds might be had. Should the auditor inform him that the levy had been voted, approximately fifty percent of the $60,- 000 needed to operate the schools for the remainder of the year would be available from present funds, director Hiegel said. Passage of appropriation bills now in the legislature would make available all that was needed, it was said.

Governor Gives Approval
After he had heard that the 4700 school children of the city would be without school facilities if funds were not obtained, Governor Donahy referred the committee to Mr. Hiegel, declaring that it was apparent an emergency existed.

While the East Liverpool committee was conferring with Mr. Hiegel, the Senate finance committee was considering bills which would appropriate from the general fund a total of $2,750,000 for the aid of weak school districts. Of this $1,- 250,000 was intended to make up a deficit which will exist by June 1 and the remainder to make the placement of funds formerly obtained from a direct tax levy abolished at the opening of the present legislative session.

The Intermediate and Senior Endeavor Societies of Second Presbyterian, United Brethren, and First Christian and the Senior Society of First Presbyterian are the seven organizations in the Union at present, and all were well represented at the organization meeting last night.

General Secretary Freet in his remarks told the young people of the Five Suggestions For Taking Judiciary Out Of Politics

COLUMBUS, O., January 26.—(By the United Press)—Five suggestions for taking the Ohio judiciary out of politics were made by George Harris, Cleveland, president of the State Bar Association at the opening today of the association's two-day meeting.

They are: First—Permitting a judge of the supreme court or court of appeals who have served an elective term of six years to serve an additional 12 year term if re-elected.

Second—Repeal of Section 4900 of the General Code insofar as it requires and permits judicial nomination and party primaries. This would still leave the nomination of candidates by petition.

Third—Amendment of Section 4900 of the General Code so as to permit the state and district bar association and also local ones if desired, to nominate one candidate for each judicial office.

Fourth—Nominations by bar associations by petition under the existing law after a plebiscite of their members had determined who were to be nominated.

Fifth—Creation of a judicial council of nine members including the chief justice of the court of appeals, the president of the common pleas judges' association, the president of the probate judges' association, the chief justice and two other judges of the supreme court, and three members of the bar chosen by the president and confirmed by the executive committee of the Ohio State Bar Association. This council should study the organization rules and methods of procedure and practice of the judicial of the state and the work accomplished and the result produced by that system and its various parts. It would report annually to the governor and submitting suggestions for changes as it deems wise. Prosecuting Attorney Edward C. Stanton, of Cleveland, was elected president of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association at the annual meeting in connection with the Ohio State Bar Association. Prosecuting Attorney Charles Bell, of Hamilton county, was elected vice president.

Japs Determined To Cut Navy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The Japanese embassy announced today the receipt of official despatches bearing upon the recent interception of Premier Kato in the diet with reference to the Washington naval limitation treaty.

According to these advices the Premier did not say, as reported in press despatches from Tokyo, that an understanding between the three great naval powers as to a course to follow in case the treaty was not ratified by all five signatories, but that in such an event "an agreement of some sort might eventually be reached by Japan, the United States and Great Britain."

Makes Flat Denial
The following day, the 24th, the embassy announced, "in the House of Representatives," replying to a question as to whether or not any agreement exists among the three powers, he flatly declared that there is no such understanding.

"May Reach An Understanding"
The despatch said in substance of the interpretation. It was announced that in the House of Peers on January 23, replying to a question by Viscount Kato, leader of the opposition, the prime minister said:

"I believe that the navy treaty will be ratified. In the unlikely event that it should fail, an agreement of some sort might eventually be reached by Japan, the United States and Great Britain. But, putting aside this question, let me say that even if the treaty fails, we earnestly desire to respect the spirit of the Washington conference in reducing expenditure and lightening the national burden."

McGraw Still Seeks Meadows

PHILADELPHIA, January 26.—The first big problem that confronts Arthur Fletcher, new manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, is Lee Meadows.

Is Meadows leaving on the job or has he a sore arm? Fletcher must make a final decision in the matter.

For several years Manager McGraw of the Giants, has been anxious to add Meadows to his staff of pitchers. That is the reason for the thought that Meadows may not be taking his work seriously.

Those who know Meadows scout the idea that he is not doing his best. Others are of the belief that the knowledge that McGraw is after him may have something to do with his cry of sore arm and his inability to win.

Unusual Sundays Will Be Observed By Church

To keep up attendance and interest in the First Christian Bible school, the superintendent, Charles M. Howland, has designated the last Sunday in each month as "Unusual Sunday," when the exercises for the morning will be turned over completely to a committee or organization. The superintendent will simply become an interested spectator and view the proceedings from the audience. On Sunday, January 28, the publicity committee will be in charge. This committee announces that Maurice A. Coe, teacher of the Men's Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Bible school, will teach the lesson to the adult department. Mr. Coe is recognized as one of the most entertaining and instructive speakers in the city, and his discussion of the lesson is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

The committee makes the further announcement that the person making the greatest number of personal interviews during the week will be presented with a pretty gift, personally donated by the committee. Incidentally Sime Sledge and Ma Sledge, two characters made famous over the entire brotherhood by Cartoonist Harvey Shonkwiler, will be present and will make a tour of inspection of the school. The experiences of these two famous characters will be pictured in the Bible school weekly, "The Lookout" within the next week or two. Artist Shonkwiler will no doubt have a lot of fun when it comes to drawing up the proceedings of the school, for he is personally acquainted with a number of the members. #### Air Of Excitement In Entire Upper Nile Valley

LUXOR, EGYPT, Jan. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—An air of suppressed excitement pervaded the whole upper Nile Valley as the day approaches for the opening of the inner or mortuary chamber of the tomb of King Tutankhamun, recently discovered in the Valley of the Kings.

Not since the American Egyptologist, Theodore Davis, unearthed more than a half a dozen tombs in the same valley has the Egyptian populace shown such pronounced interest and curiosity in the great past of their country.

Pressure is being exerted by the local population to have the mummy of Tutankhamun, if it is found in the inner chamber, taken up into the tomb instead of being removed to Cairo. They make no secret of their motive in the matter, declaring that if exhibited to the public view in the tomb, the mummy of the Pharaoh will attract thousands of tourists to Luxor and stimulate trade, the hotel business and the sale of antiques.

One Royal Mummy.
At present in all the tombs of the imperial necropolis, there remains only one royal mummy, that of Amenophis II, which is in view in its original burial place. The whole Theban burial, including the Valley of the Kings and Queens, contains the bodies of countless generations. Here all, from the mighty Pharaohs to the humblest of citizens, sought their final rest.

A workman cannot strike a spade in the ground in this area without unearthing skeletons of the ancient Egyptian people, and in many cases the bodies are surprisingly well preserved, particularly those of nobility who could afford the expense of embalming with aromatic oils, and spices.

Herbert Winlock, of the American archaeological mission, declared today: "If Carnarvan finds the body of Tutankhamun, as I hope he will I am confident that it will be in an excellent state of preservation, especially if the burial vault was not previously invaded by the robbers."

Both Houses Favor Heavy Penalties In Auto Theft Crimes

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—Both branches of the legislature now are on record in favor of raising the penalty to imprisonment in all cases of persons convicted of taking an automobile without the owner's consent. The Senate has passed a bill by Senator McCoy of Mahoning County, providing two to ten years imprisonment. The House today passed the bill by Herbert of Franklin County, making the penalty one to five years imprisonment. Both bills eliminate the present provision allowing courts to impose fines or work house sentences.

Receiver Is Named By Court For Firm

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 26.—Federal Judge John E. Sater, today appointed Paul T. Norton, of Columbus, receiver for the Kilbourne & Jacobs Manufacturing Company on application of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company of Pittsburgh, one of the largest creditors. No statement of assets and liabilities will be given the court until an inventory is taken.

VAL of PARADISE

by King C. Roe

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN HANNON, wealthy ranch owner, his blind wife, BELLE, and their beautiful daughter, VAL, live happily together in Hannon's wonderful ranch home, Paradise. Hannon, the greatest power in the mesa country, loved by his family and hated by his neighbors, is the richest land owner in that section. The pride of Hannon's heart, his wonderful Red Blood of horses, is the envy of all cattlemen.

Reckless, the king, is beyond comparison. He is an alien horse, brought to Paradise by the master after a mysterious journey into distant lands. In Hannon's store in Santa Leandra, nearest town to Paradise ranch, a game has been running since the night before.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Today, as the men steadily lost to Brideman, a shadow darkened the door and a girl stood there. She leaned gracefully against the lintel and smiled, her little head tilted sideways like a bird's, her black eyes rolling over every face there with a bold, bright glance. She was clad in garments of scarlet and black, with a mask of striped silk that hung to her knee at the left, after it had most graciously bound her slender waist in a wide, tight girdle.

At the sound of her light foot at the sill the players looked up. Brideman with a leer and a laugh and a pointed compliment, the cowboys with that lively interest which all their ilk feel in womankind, but Paul Sanchez, with a black scowl, for she was his daughter.

"Lolo," he said sharply, "go home—pronto."

But she only leaned more comfortably against the doorpost and smiled at the men.

"Lolo likes company," said Brideman, boisterously, "and why shouldn't she, shut in this forsaken town? Tell me that. Come watch us play, little one," he added, turning his great face toward the door.

But Sanchez was on his feet, his dark face flaming. He lifted an imperious finger and pointed north, and the girl with a last, sideways glance and a pout, slipped gracefully off the step and disappeared.

Sanchez sat down again, picked up his cards and called for a draw coolly, but there was fire in his black eyes.

And now, as if he lost command of his unusually sane judgment, he lost the last of his gold and rose with a howl, his cards thrown on the table. "Your pleasure, gentlemen," he said. "Drink with me, if Hannon will trust me."

Hannon behind his worn old bar trusted anyone. Moreover he knew that Sanchez was only temporarily broke. So the players left the table with much noise of scraping chairs and jangling spurs and lined up for the fiery refreshment which would have doored a stranger.

And Lolo, swinging down the little street beneath the elms and cottonwoods, her slim brown hands on her narrow hips, her black head high with offended dignity, stopped short, to stare with wide eyes to where the open road led in front the sage-brush plain.

A great dust was on the level, for many horses ran there, fleet horses, she knew, for they poked their dark noses ahead of the dust, even though the wind, blowing with a keen freshness, was behind them.

Lolo turned back to watch the oncoming cloud of dust with its potentialities. It came with an increasing sound of thunder, with the rattle and creak of chain and saddle, and presently a band of men rode into the end of the dusty street and pounded down its length toward Hannon's.

They were lean brown chaps to a man, they rode like centaurs, and every man-jack of them carried two guns swinging at his hips. Their garments were good and showed a certain vanity of adornment, such as an ostentation of spotted belts and riding cuffs. But the thing about them that took the eye of every beholder in that land was their horses.

Grand horses they were, wild, ramping, mettlesome, creatures all big, all hard as nails from long and strenuous use, and the one that raced ahead was more beautiful than all of them.

And if the horse shown up in sharp contrast among those behind him, not less did his rider also.

This was a young man, not over seven and twenty, tall, lean as a hound, and broad shoulders beneath his flannel shirt: slipping with muscle, the long hands on his pomel slender as a woman's and as fine-grained, his handsome blue eyes in odd contrast to the darkness of his hair and the smooth dark tan of his cheeks.

The group of newcomers, falling in close together as if from habit, crossed the street to the store, mounted the steps with a clatter of spurs and entered. The leader stood first inside the door and looked around with the sparkling smile that lighted his face as with an inner flame. The men at the table looked up, and though they knew perfectly well, had known for ten minutes, of their arrival, they showed no surprise. Every face there was placid.

Brideman alone looked keenly over the crowd with an appraising glance. "Hello, boys," said the tall young chap, setting the broad black hat back upon his head at an angle. "room for some more?"

"Always room for more," said the genial Hannon, "what'll you have?"

"Molten hell for these," said the other airily with a wave of his slim hand toward those behind him, "water for me, gentlemen," he included players at the table, who began to rise at the time-honored invitation.

"Wh—what did you say, stranger?" asked Hannon, a grin beginning to spread on his florid face.

But the young man turned and looked at him, and all the smile, all the sparkle, was gone suddenly from his face.

"I said 'water,' Hannon," he said evenly, "just plain, cold, ordinary water. Spits my particular type of beauty better. Keeps my complexion smooth."

"Play?" asked Hannon.

"If we may."

Sanchez, out of it, drew up a chair and sat smoking and watching as if he had not but now lost the last mule bag of dust, dollars and pesos, he possessed in the world. A game was a game and he was a born gambler, feeling its lure viciously.

At the table where Brideman played, the stranger had taken seat naturally, as if one strong force drew another. As the cut for deal went round those two men looked at each other, and a keen observer would have sensed a measuring, an appraising, as if each tested the other's mettle. Corey had joined the second table, and Hannon, the third, while the rest of the original players were about evenly distributed.

"STAKE ME," SHE SAID, "I GIVE YOU LEAVE."

Brideman was rich for the day. Whether or not he would be tomorrow was another matter. However he had, but, to ride away into the distances which swallowed and digested him at fitful times, to come back again laden to his ears with gold.

And many odd things this man had put up at times when luck went against him—once a wonderful ring of heavy carved gold which, upon pressure, shot forth a minute blade.

Brideman had said the steel was poisoned, and the gamblers had laughed. Whereupon he had leaped suddenly and touched the cat stretched among the barrels in the warmth of the fire, for it was winter-time. The thing was effective, for the creature died promptly, and with scarce a quiver.

Sanchez had won the ring, but Brideman had forced him to continue the play for twenty hours, until he won it back.

Again, he had staked the beautiful ivory hand of a sacred statue, got from none knew what sacred Mission of the Border, silent sign of the man's depravity. Sanchez had won that, too, and play as he would Brideman had never been able to win it back.

Hannon's was due that day to see such high play as it had not seen for years, and it was due to see the breaking of Brideman, a thing which it had never seen.

For it was not long before every man at the table—and at the one adjoining, through subtle glances and keenly cocked ears—knew that Brideman had met his match, his real match, not a spurring victor who won and lost again, such as Corey and Sanchez, but a man who played to him steadily and began to win.

So the day drifted by with sweet winds in from the plains and a high sun that sailed in a cloudless sky, and the stacks of coin before Brideman dwindled, to grow at the stranger's elbow.

"Maybe you're tired," said the young man once, halting a moment, "would you like to rest and begin again later?"

"Quit? Brideman a quitter? Deal them cards."

At one o'clock Brideman pushed over with a wavering hand the last mule bag of gold before him and called for two cards. He had scarcely moved from his chair for twenty-two hours. This was the last deal and it seemed impossible that the run of luck could or would change, and those in the circle drew in closer. So interested were they that none had seen Lolo Sanchez as she stood for a long time in the door watching the face of the man opposite Brideman, whose back was toward her.

And as this man called Brideman for the last time and it came to the show-down, while the giant threw his cards upon the cloth with a muttered oath and made as if to push back from the table, the crowd pushed hurriedly through the crowding men and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"Broke, Brideman?" she asked softly.

Brideman looked up with his red-rimmed eyes that were full of rage. "What is it to you?" he asked brutally.

"Nothing," said Lolo, smiling, "only—if you want another try you can have it."

"Yes?" he sneered, "what'll I stake?"

And he made to rise, stiffly, waveringly, tired suddenly to the point of heaving.

But Lolo pushed him down with her little hand. "Stake me," she said, "I give you leave."

VAL of PARADISE

by King C. Roe

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOHN HANNON, wealthy ranch owner, his blind wife, BELLE, and their beautiful daughter, VAL, live happily together in Hannon's wonderful ranch home, Paradise. Hannon, the greatest power in the mesa country, loved by his family and hated by his neighbors, is the richest land owner in that section. The pride of Hannon's heart, his wonderful Red Blood of horses, is the envy of all cattlemen.

Reckless, the king, is beyond comparison. He is an alien horse, brought to Paradise by the master after a mysterious journey into distant lands. In Hannon's store in Santa Leandra, nearest town to Paradise ranch, a game has been running since the night before.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Today, as the men steadily lost to Brideman, a shadow darkened the door and a girl stood there. She leaned gracefully against the lintel and smiled, her little head tilted sideways like a bird's, her black eyes rolling over every face there with a bold, bright glance. She was clad in garments of scarlet and black, with a mask of striped silk that hung to her knee at the left, after it had most graciously bound her slender waist in a wide, tight girdle.

At the sound of her light foot at the sill the players looked up. Brideman with a leer and a laugh and a pointed compliment, the cowboys with that lively interest which all their ilk feel in womankind, but Paul Sanchez, with a black scowl, for she was his daughter.

"Lolo," he said sharply, "go home—pronto."

But she only leaned more comfortably against the doorpost and smiled at the men.

"Lolo likes company," said Brideman, boisterously, "and why shouldn't she, shut in this forsaken town? Tell me that. Come watch us play, little one," he added, turning his great face toward the door.

But Sanchez was on his feet, his dark face flaming. He lifted an imperious finger and pointed north, and the girl with a last, sideways glance and a pout, slipped gracefully off the step and disappeared.

Sanchez sat down again, picked up his cards and called for a draw coolly, but there was fire in his black eyes.

And now, as if he lost command of his unusually sane judgment, he lost the last of his gold and rose with a howl, his cards thrown on the table. "Your pleasure, gentlemen," he said. "Drink with me, if Hannon will trust me."

Hannon behind his worn old bar trusted anyone. Moreover he knew that Sanchez was only temporarily broke. So the players left the table with much noise of scraping chairs and jangling spurs and lined up for the fiery refreshment which would have doored a stranger.

And Lolo, swinging down the little street beneath the elms and cottonwoods, her slim brown hands on her narrow hips, her black head high with offended dignity, stopped short, to stare with wide eyes to where the open road led in front the sage-brush plain.

A great dust was on the level, for many horses ran there, fleet horses, she knew, for they poked their dark noses ahead of the dust, even though the wind, blowing with a keen freshness, was behind them.

Lolo turned back to watch the oncoming cloud of dust with its potentialities. It came with an increasing sound of thunder, with the rattle and creak of chain and saddle, and presently a band of men rode into the end of the dusty street and pounded down its length toward Hannon's.

They were lean brown chaps to a man, they rode like centaurs, and every man-jack of them carried two guns swinging at his hips. Their garments were good and showed a certain vanity of adornment, such as an ostentation of spotted belts and riding cuffs. But the thing about them that took the eye of every beholder in that land was their horses.

French And Italians Consent On British Plan Reluctantly

LAUSANNE, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The French delegation, today declined to comment on the allied project to adjourn the Near Eastern conference by the end of next week, whether peace was signed or not. The allies hope that publication of their plans will have sufficient psychological pressure to induce the Turks to yield on the disputed points.

Both French and Italians rallied rather reluctantly to the procedure laid down by the British, and they were careful to say today that there could be no question of a definite rupture which would lead to renewed war, but all will depend on the nature of the answer the Turks give when the allied treaty is definitely presented.

Peace Door Open.

Marquis Di Geronzi, of Italy, said today that the door to peace would be left open, even after the adjournment of the conference without results because the allies stand ready to return to Lausanne if there seems any chance of reaching an accord. Both the French and Italians are striving desperately to save the conference.

The French have made many concessions in financial and economic affairs which affect them more than the others. The Italians have worked out a more conciliatory formula for judicial guarantees for foreigners which they think the Turks will accept. There is great nervousness, and some depression, however, in conference circles generally.

Allied Draft Almost Ready.

The British announced today that all discussion before the commissions will end Saturday night. The allied draft treaty will be presented to the Turks Wednesday. The intervening time being devoted to the completion of the draft.

Prominent Dry Crusader Faces Serious Charges

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Long considered a crusader of misapprehension and malfeasance, of black-mail and extortion, today burst into flames when William H. Anderson, superintendent of the New York branch of the Anti-Saloon League and a nationally known "dry" crusader, was summoned to the district attorney's office for examination.

The District Attorney's aids maintained sealed lips and sealed records concerning what took place at today's questioning.

But Mr. Anderson himself, in a statement issued tonight, revealed that an investigation of certain financial transactions within the league and involving funds donated by its supporters had been started by district attorney Banton.

Newspaper Prints Charges.

The specific accusations, alleged by The Evening Mail, to have been made by O. Bertall Phillips, who, until last year was chief financial field representative of the league, were:

1.—That the league chief for many months, carried out a private arrangement, whereby he split, fifty-fifty, commissions on donations so

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "Never Found Anything
Better Than Cardui
For A Run Down Condition"

Morgan City, La.—"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. I. G. Bowman, of 1319 Fourth street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go."

"I was thin."

"I had no appetite."

"I could not rest or sleep well."

"I was so weak, and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself or any one else."

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart."

"This nervous condition was worse than pain."

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it."

"After using a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well."

"I have never found anything better for a run-down condition."

If you suffer as this Louisiana lady did, it is reasonable to suppose that you, too, will find Cardui helpful for your troubles, as thousands of women have.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly two-thirds of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, etc., are due to the presence of acids in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The acids in the stomach lining is formed by the action of food and acids, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Indigestion, sourness, etc., are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. By having acids in the stomach, the stomach lining is weakened and a few drops of Malted Magnesia and a teaspoonful in a quart of water, taken after eating, this weakens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, burning, etc. Malted Magnesia in powder or tablet form, taken after meals, is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive and is the most efficient form of medicine for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy life with no more fear of indigestion.—Advertisement.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

What thousands of stomach troubles are doing now. Instead of trying to patch up a bad digestion, they are attacking the cause of the ailments—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. They restore the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away from the liver and stomach troubles. You have a bad taste, coated tongue, loss of appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble in sleeping, indigestion, flatulence, etc. Take Olive Tablets. They are connected electrically with the liver and bowels. You will know them by their color. They do the work without causing one or two at bedtime for relief. But what you like, the real cause.—Advertisement.

lited by Phillips.

2.—That Anderson falsified the official accounts of the league, thus committing a felony.

3.—That Anderson refusing in 1919 an increase of $10,000 salary, drew "compensation" at $15,000 that year, that he obtained the board of director's authority to draw from the treasury to himself, $24,000 for unauthorized and malfeasant "publicity."

Says Anderson Secretly Shared.

4.—That, although the league professed to pay no commissions or bonuses to solicitors of contributions, Phillips regularly received 20 percent commission up to $25,000 collected annually and ten percent on collections exceeding that amount; and that Anderson secretly shared these commissions, according Phillips's compensation as "salary."

To which Anderson replied, with counter-charges, that he was being made the victim of attempted extortion and black-mail, which had already cost the league, under a guarantee of a settlement $2,500 paid Phillips by the board of directors last December.

"These charges," he said "are the joint product of a desire for revenge on the part of the discharged employees. The man making the charges was discharged for cause after some unpleasant financial transactions and demonstrated disloyalty."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dolly Wise—Please explain how it came about that we had so much water in the 1913 flood? Please state the stage of river when we had that big rise over night. Also, print the stage of the Ohio river at Cincinnati in 1913 and 1984.

A READER OF THE TIMES.

I can't explain how nor why we happened to have such a big flood in 1913, except that an unprecedented rainfall throughout a large part of the state poured torrents of water into ditches, streams, lakes and rivers. The water courses could not carry off the great surplus. Overflowing banks literally made turbulent lakes of farms, villages and cities. The heavy rains turned city streets into devastating torrents. Waters piled up ten and twenty, and even thirty feet high in residential and business sections of thriving communities, and hundreds of square miles of territory made Ohio a veritable inland of sea for several days. The height of the flood being reached in this city on March 31st, when the stage measured 67 feet, 10 3/4 inches. The stage in Portsmouth in 1984 was 66 feet, 3 and one-eighth inches. The stage of the 1913 flood in Cincinnati was 69.8 feet. In 1984, the stage at Cincinnati was 71.1 feet.

Dear Dolly—Since you are so good and kind in answering questions for others, I want you to answer this one for me. Dolly, I have a nice red sweater, that day by day, in every way, is getting longer and longer. I don't want to change the color of the sweater, as I am a fireman, and as we have lots of red things, I will just leave my sweater red, but I want you to tell me something, or where it was before it started to get long.

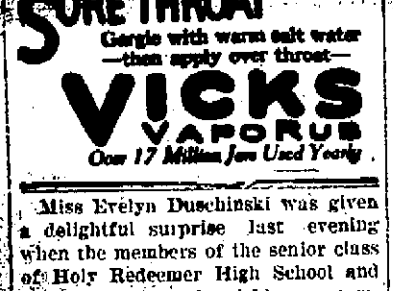

J. B.

I think if you will wash the sweater in luke warm soap suds it will shrink some. If it doesn't need washing, you might just wet it in the luke warm water. If you are afraid it will run away if you wet it, you might get some of your friends to run the bottom off and hem it again. If it is a slip-over sweater, you can roll the bottom of it up to where it belongs.

Dear Dolly—I was in Detroit all summer and I think it is a beautiful city, and I expect to return there soon. Dolly, I want you to tell me which is the larger, Detroit or Cleveland. I heard Detroit was the fourth largest city in the United States. Is that so?

J. E. C.

The population of Detroit is 235,678, while Cleveland is only 206,841. If you want to add Cleveland Heights to this, it will make

Tear out this pie crust recipe

PIE CRUST (Plain)
1 1/2 cups Gold Medal Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup shortening
Ice Water

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut in shortening and slowly add enough ice water to make stiff dough. Handle dough lightly and as little as possible. Bake hot oven at first, lowering temperature as coloring appears. This amount makes one two-crust pie or two one-crust pies.

For light flaky pie crusts use Gold Medal Flour

LIGHT, flaky pie crusts are not so difficult to make. Just use this recipe and Gold Medal Flour, being careful while mixing to keep all your materials and utensils cold.

Gold Medal Flour is invariable in purity, whiteness, flavor and strength. This means that every pie made will be uniform in quality.

You need not buy an expensive pastry flour. Gold Medal Flour makes pies, cakes and pastry as well as bread.

Eventually you, too, will use Gold Medal Flour to make light, flaky pie crusts.

SOCIAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kah entertained with an elaborate three-course dinner of attractive appointments at six o'clock last evening at their home, 624 Seventh street, during which Mrs. Anna M. Schuler announced the engagement of her charming young niece, Miss Garnet Schuler, to Mr. A. Guy Horne of Louisville, Ky.

The table decorations were especially clever, and appropriate to the occasion. A miniature bride and groom was used as the central adornment and the place cards were tiny horns. The place of the pretty bride-elect was marked by a larger horn, to which was attached a clever verse. Covers were laid for Mrs. Anna Schuler, Miss Garnet Schuler, Miss Dorothy Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Kah and son Robert, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kah and Mr. Harry Kah. After the dinner the remainder of the evening was spent socially.

Mr. Horne is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Horne of Columbia, South Carolina, and is a popular member of Walter E. Davidson's Orchestra, which is now filling an engagement at the Walnut Theatre in Louisville, Ky.

The wedding will be a charming event of the latter part of February.

Mrs. George Miller delightfully entertained the members of St. Mary's Social Club Thursday afternoon at her home, 1307 Seventeenth street. The hours were pleasantly whittled away playing Five Hundred, and at the conclusion of the games the tokens for high and low score were presented to Mrs. Frank Graf and Mrs. P. Frederick. Later a delicious salad course was served to the following members:

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"HELLO, there!" called a cheery voice.

Nancy looked up from the letters she was sorting.

Nick looked up from the letters he was stamping.

And Mr. Sprinkle, the fairy postman, pushed back his cap and looked up, too, from whatever it was he was doing. I forget exactly.

"Hello!" called out all three of them at once. For whom do you suppose it was? Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, from Bluster-Gust Land.

"Well, well, well! Where'd you come from, Sprinkle?" Mr. Stamp greeted him heartily, reaching his hand out over the counter of the little window where people bought stamps to stick on their letters.

"Texas!" said the fairy weatherman.

The home of Mrs. Adolph Goodman, 521 Fourth street, was the pleasant gathering place for the members of the Matron and Maid Club Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Anna Goodman as the assistant hostess. Palms, ferns and cut flowers added to the attractive arrangement of the rooms and the afternoon hours were delightfully spent in the enjoyment of Five Hundred. At the close of the games Mrs. Isabelle Krieger was presented with a handsome trophy for high score, and Mrs. William Brandel received the guest prize.

Mrs. H. H. Stallard and Mrs. Wm. Brandel were guests. The next meeting will be with Mrs. John Snyder at her home on Second Street.

Mrs. Ida M. Davis of 2067 Baird Avenue, has returned after a three month's visit in Chicago, where she was the guest of her brother, Harry Way, and her sister, Mrs. Anna Mick.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

Jack Daw, like all other boys, was very fond of toys, so when he heard that the biggest department store in his town had a wonderful toy department, he decided to visit it. The floor walker in this store told him that the moving stairway would take him up to where the toys were.

Jack followed several people to this stairway and was soon riding slowly upwards. He stood perfectly still, but the stairway carried him along quite rapidly. As Jack neared the end of the ride he heard quite a noise behind him. Looking back he saw Flip running up the stairs.

Flip was Jack's pet dog and he always went where Jack did. "Well, old fellow," said Jack, as the dog reached him, "did you think I was going to leave you behind?" And then Jack heard a man shout, "This way to toy land." And looking up Jack saw a wonderful sight. (Continued.)

Sunday School Lesson

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS. LUKE 16:19-31.
REV. W. P. SHEPPARD, LYRA. O.

Golden Text:—"Charge them that are rich in this world that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."—1 Timothy 6:17.

In this lesson, we are afforded a deep insight into two worlds where we see disclosed extremes of character and conditions. In this world we see two men, one a rich man dwelling in luxury and a poor man in sore affliction, both begging at the rich man's gate.

was at the rich man's gate with the hope of getting at least the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table. No consideration was given him by the rich man, moreover the dogs of the street were more kind than he. Though destitute, sore and helpless, the poor beggar's name is suggestive. Lazarus means "God is a help." Indicating that a godly life shone through his poverty. We learn from these contrasted lives worldly conditions has nothing to do with the test of our state in the sight of God. Rich men are not all wicked or selfish and not all poor men are godly.

Contrasted Death and Burials. (verse 22).
The beggar died and not much notice was taken by the people, not many to mourn his demise if any. But there was one who noticed it. "Our Heavenly Father and angels came and carried him into Abraham's bosom." The only loss to the world was that he no longer was seen at the rich man's gate.

The rich man died. His riches could not bribe the messenger of death. Doubtless a costly funeral was held, attended by those who were in the same class of society that he moved in when he was alive. Death is the common end to which all classes must come, there is where all lines of life meet.

Contrasted Destinies. (verse 23).
The beggar: He was at once carried by angels into Abraham's bosom.

The souls of believers are especially cared for at the hour of death. They go immediately to be with the Lord. Those who have righteousness by faith at the hour of death are set free from this mortal body and are ushered in the peaceful presence of Christ. Our destinies are determined in this life.

The rich man: Though he had an elaborate burial he lifted up his eyes in hell being in torment. Let us look at these scenes and see how the positions of these men are reversed. The beggar is in the company with just men made perfect, because of his godly life while here on earth and the rich man in company of the wicked stripped of his costly apparel and enduring the tortures of hell because he only lived to his own selfish ends.

The reality and fixedness of life beyond the grave. (verses 24-31). The rich man's cry for mercy. "Dives" claims relationship to Abraham. He cried, "Father Abraham!" He was conscious of his selfish appetites which controlled him while here on earth. Part of our torment in hell will be our cravings of appetite and lusts with no means to gratify. Abraham's reply. (verse 25). This reply cast reflections on his former life. He said, "Son, remember." The pangs of a guilty conscience will be most real in hell. Then we will remember the lost opportunities to do good.

There fixedness. (verse 26). Human destinies are fixed by the kind of lives we live here on earth or by our choice. When one passes out of this life he enters into a state and condition unchangeable.

God's word, the all-sufficient light. (verses 27-31). Dives now remembers his five brethren in his father's house and wants Lazarus to go on an errand of mercy and warn them. He had rejected the counsel of God and now sought other mediums of warning other than the word. Abraham declared by the word that those who reject Moses and the prophets would not repent though visited by one who rose from the dead.

Even the greatest miracles will not affect the heart of men who reject the Bible and they will learn the value of a soul when it is too late. In conclusion, if this graphic picture is only a type of hell, God help men to flee the real torments of hell.

Big Bus Leaves Road; Passengers Have Close Call

The Chillicothe News Advertiser Thursday said: Five passengers in the "southbound" Portsmouth bus narrowly escaped death Thursday afternoon about 1:15 o'clock when the big carrier, after making the first "hair pin curve," on the Dividing Ridge, on the Waverly pike failed to get straightened out right for the second, ploughed through a fence, ran down the steep embankment for a considerable distance, jumped across a narrow ravine, rammed its radiator into the creek bank and turned over on its side.

News of the accident was brought to this city by J. C. Caruette, proprietor of the Waverly Packing company, who came along a few minutes after the accident occurred.

It was stated Friday that the passengers were not injured as the bus did not turn over. There was one woman in the machine.

No Pilot For Bomber

BOSTON, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A bombing air service that needs no pilots has been developed, Major General Mason M. Patrick, head of the army forces announced. In a series of addresses during a two day visit here General Patrick has described the advances in aviation, among them the "automatic air service."

The automatic service has been so highly developed, General Patrick asserts that even now it would be possible to send a pilotless plane with a cargo of bombs from Boston to New York at a given altitude and at a given time and predetermined place would discharge the devastating cargo. A whole fleet of airplanes similarly might be operated with exactness, all by radio, he says.

Governor Donahey Attacks Davis' Reorganization Plan

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Donahey's first attack on the re-organized plan of state government put into force two years ago under Governor Davis, was made late yesterday in a message to the Legislature.

Abolishment of the position of Director of Welfare and replacing it with a bi-partisan board of administration to supervise the state's penal correctional and charitable institutions, was the chief recommendation of the governor.

"No one person possesses all the necessary qualifications," to supervise the 25,000 state wards, $50,000,000 worth of property and 15,000 acres of land now under the care of the welfare department, the chief executive said in giving his reason for the proposed change.

Other recommendations contained in the message were:

Makes Other Recommendations Re-establishment of a separate purchasing department for state institutions.

Appointment of a full time bi-partisan board of pardons and paroles.

More active participation of the state in manufacture of road materials and erection of a state cement plant to be operated by convicts.

Transfer of the authority to let contracts for institutional buildings from the State Highway Department to the Welfare Department.

Adoption of a general plan for furnishing work for prisoners in state institutions.

The message was confined entirely to matters relative to the welfare department, the governor indicating that other subjects might be taken up individually in later communications.

Follows Davis On One Item. Governor Donahey was in agreement with the policy of former Governor Davis so far as the London prison farm was concerned. The message said that "the huge building program for the London prison farm, as contemplated in the past, is unnecessary and too expensive. The message recommended that the administration building be completed as inexpensively as possible and that it be used to house prisoners and the first construction work done on farm buildings, a slaughter-house and packing plant, a canning factory and a flour and feed mill. All this could be done by prison labor. It was stated that the plan would carry out the idea that the central idea of the farm should be intensive food production for other state institutions.

Would Revise Old System.

Establishment of the board of administration to replace the director of welfare would be a revision to the system which prevailed before the enactment of Governor Davis' re-organization law. The board of pardons and paroles as recommended by Governor Donahey, and the separate purchasing department for state institutions also were a part of the old system.

The board of administration as recommended by the chief executive, would be composed of an unspecified number of members appointed for definite terms, of which not more than one would expire in any one year.

Suits

Reveal Soft Lines

SPRING Suits achieve an effect of gracefulness through their softly treated lines. In our collection, two and three-piece Tailleurs are almost equally present. Box and Jaquette ideas in coats show interesting novelty in the matter of necklines, sleeves and slashed sides. Materials favored are twill cords, covers and grey-stone cloth.

SKIRTS have much variety about them wrap skirts, skirts with one-sided rolling and inverted pleats are all prominent. Side-traped and irregular hemline models appear often with a tendency toward front fullness.

IT SHOWS its colors on new Suits, does rainbow floss. And the colors appearing most frequently are French blue and red. This trimming shares honors with tinsel embroidery and close tuckings.

Frocks

Make Hemlines Important

HEM LINES as varied as the moods of Spring mark her Frocks. These Frocks, newly-arrived, feature taffetas, bouffant in line, introducing colored fabric insert trimming, flat crepes in soft draped lines, and three-piece costume Dresses of twill and crepe. Browns and black are still in favor with gold, grey, almond green, ceru and crushed berry assuming importance.

COLLARS choose to be different on Spring frocks. Square, round, narrow and deep. Collars add a charming variation to all types of dress. Lingerie touches are particularly good.

Coats

Stress Circular Sides

RELECTING a tendency for circular side effects, irregular hemlines, low-bloused waistlines and the straightline silhouette, this collection of Spring Coats proves charming indeed. Developed in lustrous, fashiona, marocva and other soft fabrics, these Coats often feature color and fabric contrasts thus adding novelty to Spring wardrobes.

SIDE-FRONT fastenings, held by drapes, have a prominent position, cup-shaped chin collars are noted often, too. And metallic stitching in striped design is a favored trimming note.

House Approves Exoneration Of Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — The House today approved by a vote of 284 to 77 a resolution against him by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota.

Without a roll call and by practically an unanimous vote, it adopted also a resolution discharging the committee from further consideration of the charges and laying the Keller impeachment resolution on the table. The two votes were regarded as having the effect of closing the incident.

The committee in its report, took the position that the House could punish Mr. Keller by imprisonment or otherwise until he did testify, the term of imprisonment, however, not to extend beyond this session of congress, but it made no recommendation on the subject, nor did the House take action upon it.

Lively Debate Precedes Vote

The House votes were preceded by three hours of spirited debate, featured by attacks upon and a defense of Mr. Keller, and by assaults upon Samuel Untermyer, of New York, Jackson H. Halston, of this city, who was Representative Keller's counsel and his associates, John H. Valley, of Boston, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Referring to letters written by Mr. Untermyer regarding the impeachment charges, which were made a part of the minority report filed by Representative Thomas, Democrat, Kentucky, Representative Goodykoontz, Republican, West Virginia, charged that these documents had been "drugged in to besmirch the Judiciary Committee." He added that he did not then have time to discuss Mr. Untermyer's "record" fully, but that he would do so in an extension of his remarks in the congressional record.

Moral Record Attacked

"In the first place," he declared, "this man's moral record is not good. He was convicted by the court of chancery in the State of New Jersey as being the arch perpetrator of a dirty fraud that was enacted in such a way as to siphon from the pockets of hundreds of working people thousands and thousands of dollars."

Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary committee also assailed Mr. Untermyer, declaring that he was "interested in the prosecution of the Keller charges despite his denial that he had had any connection with their preparation."

Mr. Volstead charged that Mr. Keller from the first had treated the committee in an "insolent" manner; that he had written the committee an "insulting and abusive letter," and that he and "his henchmen" knew from the first that they did not have the evidence to support the charges.

Thomas Defends Keller

Representative Thomas defended Mr. Keller, who is in Florida, recuperating from a recent illness.

He declared that the Minnesota member had shown no "insolence" but that on the other hand members of the committee had heckled him and his counsel from the start of the public hearings.

There was a sharp clash between the Kentucky member and Mr. Volstead, when Mr. Thomas charged that the chairman had "deleted" the original record of the hearings. Mr. Volstead vigorously denied that charge but Mr. Thomas insisted upon it, declaring that at one stage of the hearings the chairman had peremptorily commanded Mr. Keller to sit down, while the official record made it appear that the command had been a "mild" request.

There was a split in party lines on the proposition to give Mr. Daugherty a clean bill of health, twelve Republicans voting in the negative and ten Democrats in the affirmative.

"STEAMING UP" HEAVYWEIGHT FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, January 26. (United Press.)—Jess Willard's belated howl that Jack Dempsey put something over on him at Toledo in 1919 failed to create any excitement. It was accepted casually and considered rather to be expected place, it has become a custom for defeated heavyweight champions to cry that they did not lose on the level.

Willard did not go into details about the stunts pulled to relieve him of his title, but it is thought that he has in mind the old story that Dempsey had his fists packed in cement when he went into the ring.

Jimmy De Forest, who trained

Dempsey for the fight, and who landed him in the ring in Toledo, was once quoted as saying that Dempsey had on "Kid McCoy's bandages," but De Forest later denied the story, and said that he put nothing but the regulation tape on his hands.

Willard, however, and a good many other fans have never been able to figure why the champion fairly mashed in Willard's face on that particular occasion when he hardly left marks on his numerous other victims.

Dempsey can come back perhaps with some good argument in the claim that he never had to hit anyone like he hit Willard to put him out.

For the next three months anything that Willard says must be taken as pure "steam."

As far as that goes everything that anyone connected with heavy-weight boxing has to say before the middle of next summer might be discounted as ballyhoo for Dempsey's next fight.

Scraps for the heavyweight championship have become such tremendous business propositions that it takes almost a year to get over with one. It requires miles of columns and tons of words.

The miles of words and the tons of conversation will be disused out from now until next July.

Rural Classic Is Now Photoplay

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," Famous New England Story, to Be Shown At Eastland Theatre

One of the most widely heralded of this season's photoplays is announced as coming on Monday to the Eastland Theatre. It is "Quincy Adams Sawyer," a Metro-Six picture based on the famous story of New England life, which was a phenomenal "best seller" when it appeared a decade or so ago. So great was the popularity of the printed narrative by Charles Felton Pidgin that it was dramatized, and in this form it won more favor. The elaborate photoplay version is even more interesting than the book or the play.

Everybody knows the story of "Quincy Adams Sawyer." Everybody knows and loves his quaint, rustic characters. The story of the young lawyer from Boston, Quincy Adams Sawyer, his coming to the small town of Mason's Corner; his experiences in running down a dishonestly secured; his great love affair—all this is part of the attractive novel which is now a screen play. The delightful rural characters are fun-provoking to the extreme, and the fresh, clean, humor will appeal to all lovers of better photoplays.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" was adapted from the novel by Bernard McConville. It was directed by Clarence G. Badger. The production was made by S-L (Arthur Sawyer-Herbert Lubin) and is released by Metro.

Prominent People Involved In Divorce Suit

The Chillicothe News Advertiser

A suit for divorce filed in common pleas court on Thursday occupied a great deal of surprise, the parties to the suit being well-known. Elias Hutton of Frankfort, is the plaintiff and his wife Jennie F. Hutton, is defendant.

The petition is very long and recites a long complaint on the part of the husband in reference to his wife's conduct towards him. They were married December 21, 1901 and have three sons, Walter, 22; George, 23, and Joseph, 20. The oldest son was the Republican candidate for county auditor at the last election.

Mr. Hutton charges extreme cruelty. He says that for a long period his wife was dangerously ill and that he employed skilled physicians, surgeons and nurses to provide for her and notwithstanding her complete recovery, she repeatedly accused and charged him with being disappointed at her recovery, claiming that covertly and secretly he desired to marry another woman.

The charge is also made that the defendant wrongfully and falsely repeatedly openly charged him with moral leprosy and that he was suffering from a disease which he communicated to her, all of which she knew to be wholly and absolutely false. He also claims that his wife falsely accused him of association with other women.

Mr. Hutton alleges that all of these charges were made openly and to numerous persons, whereby his wife destroyed his reputation and has brought him under suspicion in the community in which he resides. He claims his wife has become so embittered towards him that she has expressed the hope that he may suffer financial ruin, and come to want and poverty, and also suffer death.

The plaintiff claims that the humiliation and embarrassment became so great that it became utterly impossible for him to live with his wife and that on April 30, 1921, he was compelled to leave her. He declares she has manifested no disposition towards reconciliation, but still maintains her spirit of hostility and malevolence, without any just cause.

Family Imperiled By Flames Which Wiped Out Their Home

Leslie Sowards, Turkey Creek farmer, and family composed of his wife and nine children, the youngest a babe of two weeks and the oldest a boy of 15, were forced to flee at an early hour Wednesday morning by a fire which completely destroyed their home there.

The house, which is believed to have originated from a defective flue, had gained considerable progress when discovered by Mrs. Sowards, who when awakened by the crackling of the burning timbers found the house filled with smoke. She sounded an alarm and scantily clad the parents and children, gathering what wearing apparel they could as they went, groped their way out through smoke and flames to a place of safety, later seeking refuge at the home of a neighbor to escape exposure from the chilly night air from which they suffered greatly. The homeless family later in the day went to the home of Mrs. Sowards's father, William Odle at Odle Creek where they are being cared for.

The house, a two-story frame, which was owned by Mr. Sowards's father, Hiram Sowards had been insured for $500 but the policy had been allowed to expire, it is said. The

Second Marriage Of Ex-Kaiser Failure; Separates From Wife

LONDON, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The correspondence of the Yorkshire Evening News, wiring to his paper from Doorn, says: "In spite of elaborate efforts to hide the truth, I have discovered that the second marriage of the former German emperor, has been a complete failure, and that at the present moment he is living in one part of the castle, while his wife and her children are in another. I am told that a very few weeks sufficed to bring about the breakdown. 'Those who are near the ex-kaiser have been struck by the grave alteration not only in his mood, but in his character. He is said to have been affected very unfortunately by the operation for gland transference which he underwent before his second marriage. His own children have not forgiven him for the second marriage and his step-children avoid him. 'His moods are reduced and his private expenditures strictly limited. He is living today under most unhappy family conditions. He can command neither service, affection nor companionship and the break down in his domestic arrangements is painfully apparent to the very few who visit him.'"

Tracy Park Scene Of Near Duel; One Arrest Made

George Dallas, an employee of the Manhattan restaurant, was in Municipal court Friday to answer to a complaint of disorderly conduct made by Steve Gosh, proprietor of an refreshment stand at Twelfth and Broadway streets. The hearing disclosed that there was an ill feeling between the men over money matters. Dallas claiming that Gosh owed his brother, Pete Dallas, $10, borrowed money. The trouble started at the restaurant yesterday afternoon when Dallas tried to collect the $10 and a personal clash was only averted by the interference of others. Later Dallas challenged Gosh over the phone to a duel and invited him to Tracy Park last night. Gosh kept the appointment, but was accompanied by Officers Miller and Powers, and when Dallas assumed a threatening attitude he was taken into custody. Gosh not only denied owing Dallas anything, but claimed that Pete Dallas owed him $15. Judge McCall dismissed the complaint after warning the men to sever their relations if they could not get along agreeably.

Klan Head Declares Enemies Backed Probe

CHICAGO, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard of the Jewish empire, Knights of Ku Klux Klan, in a public statement today declared that the investigation of killings at Mer Rouge, La., was a "frame up" on the part of the Klan "represented by Governor Parker" and that it had "signally failed."

He declared the governor of Louisiana had prostituted his office for political purposes, "to vent spite or gain notoriety," and had sought to indict the Klan rather than apprehend criminals.

Attorney General Clegg of Louisiana, the wizard termed "the erstwhile Mason" and "tool of the executive."

Evans said the public hearing at Rastrop, La., which closed yesterday after investigation of the deaths of Watt Daniel and T. P. Richards, was clearly shown that the Klansmen "do not approve or participate in lawlessness of any kind."

Better Business Conditions And Building Boom Foreseen By Visiting B. & L. Men

"Better business conditions and a building boom" seemed to be the prevailing idea of the future in the opinion of a large number of building and loan officials who gathered at the Washington hotel last night when the semi-annual or winter meeting of the Fifth District Building and Loan Association League was held with almost one hundred men in attendance. The expression from the members from the various counties of this District relative to better business conditions and a coming building boom and the statement of John W. Prugh, state superintendent of building and loan organizations that every building and loan association in Portsmouth was in excellent condition were the big features of the gathering at the banquet and business meeting which followed. Resolutions of respect on the deaths of Edgar P. Draper of this city and Michael Hutt of Waverly were also adopted at this session.

The place of the summer meeting was not decided upon but as Jackson has expressed a desire to entertain the District session it is probable that it will be held in that city.

The speakers of last evening were John W. Prugh, L. P. McCullough, president of the Ohio Building and Loan Association League, Don Tobin, publicity manager for the Ohio League, all from Columbus, and Dr. W. D. Traupner, who welcomed the visitors on behalf of the local building and loan officials.

The visiting men here last night represented financial institutions in the Fifth District with assets of more than $75,000,000. Everyone reported business conditions on the up grade with money getting more plentiful, deposits and loans indicating the trend of business. O. F. Miller, of McArthur, is president of the Fifth District organization and he presided over last night's business meeting which followed the banquet.

"You ought to be very proud of your building and loan institutions in Portsmouth," declared Mr. Prugh. He said that had been of inestimable benefit in building up Portsmouth, making hundreds of home owners and economy to thousands of people. Prugh declared that the building and loan associations in Portsmouth were progressive institutions, able and conservatively managed. That they are absolutely safe is best evidenced by their record of twenty years without the loss of a single penny to any depositor.

According to Mr. Prugh, building and loan associations last year gained one of the best years in history gaining more than $40,000,000 in assets in Ohio. "These institutions were entirely responsible for the building boom in Ohio last year," he said. He stated that more than 50,000 new homes were erected and 90 per cent of this number were financed by building and loan associations.

During the meeting it was pointed out that building and loan associations in Portsmouth were serving more than 10,000 people either as depositors or borrowers. "Every person in Portsmouth should open an account with a building and loan association," Mr. Prugh stated, "because it should be the aim of every citizen to own his own home."

L. P. McCullough, president of the Ohio Building Association League and vice president of the largest building and loan company in the United States spoke of the great opportunity for community service offered building and loan officials. He said that in Columbus, one out of every two persons was interested in building and loan associations and as a result Columbus was a great homeowning city. Mr. McCullough said that although building and loan institutions had been operating in Ohio for the last 55 years, they were just assuming their rightful position in the financial fabric of the state. "Our institutions are now serving more than two million Ohioans. We have assets of more than a half billion dollars and not a single building in any building and loan association in Ohio has ever lost a penny in the last decade," he declared. The speaker predicted more prosperous times. He said there was less unemployment in Ohio now than at any time during the last two years. He also stated that money was becoming easier and more plentiful and that as a result there would be much residential construction during the year.

Second Marriage Of Ex-Kaiser Failure; Separates From Wife

LONDON, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The correspondence of the Yorkshire Evening News, wiring to his paper from Doorn, says: "In spite of elaborate efforts to hide the truth, I have discovered that the second marriage of the former German emperor, has been a complete failure, and that at the present moment he is living in one part of the castle, while his wife and her children are in another. I am told that a very few weeks sufficed to bring about the breakdown. 'Those who are near the ex-kaiser have been struck by the grave alteration not only in his mood, but in his character. He is said to have been affected very unfortunately by the operation for gland transference which he underwent before his second marriage. His own children have not forgiven him for the second marriage and his step-children avoid him. 'His moods are reduced and his private expenditures strictly limited. He is living today under most unhappy family conditions. He can command neither service, affection nor companionship and the break down in his domestic arrangements is painfully apparent to the very few who visit him.'"

Tracy Park Scene Of Near Duel; One Arrest Made

George Dallas, an employee of the Manhattan restaurant, was in Municipal court Friday to answer to a complaint of disorderly conduct made by Steve Gosh, proprietor of an refreshment stand at Twelfth and Broadway streets. The hearing disclosed that there was an ill feeling between the men over money matters. Dallas claiming that Gosh owed his brother, Pete Dallas, $10, borrowed money. The trouble started at the restaurant yesterday afternoon when Dallas tried to collect the $10 and a personal clash was only averted by the interference of others. Later Dallas challenged Gosh over the phone to a duel and invited him to Tracy Park last night. Gosh kept the appointment, but was accompanied by Officers Miller and Powers, and when Dallas assumed a threatening attitude he was taken into custody. Gosh not only denied owing Dallas anything, but claimed that Pete Dallas owed him $15. Judge McCall dismissed the complaint after warning the men to sever their relations if they could not get along agreeably.

Klan Head Declares Enemies Backed Probe

CHICAGO, January 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard of the Jewish empire, Knights of Ku Klux Klan, in a public statement today declared that the investigation of killings at Mer Rouge, La., was a "frame up" on the part of the Klan "represented by Governor Parker" and that it had "signally failed."

He declared the governor of Louisiana had prostituted his office for political purposes, "to vent spite or gain notoriety," and had sought to indict the Klan rather than apprehend criminals.

Attorney General Clegg of Louisiana, the wizard termed "the erstwhile Mason" and "tool of the executive."

Evans said the public hearing at Rastrop, La., which closed yesterday after investigation of the deaths of Watt Daniel and T. P. Richards, was clearly shown that the Klansmen "do not approve or participate in lawlessness of any kind."

Protests Against Stiff Swollen Tortured Joints

RHEUMATIC OR OTHERWISE

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In—Joint Aches Get Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fall to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who ascertained that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rigidly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twinging, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and get right to work and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at all druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube—advertisement.

SOCIETY

Musical charms to soothe the weary, break the winter, oaks or bend a knotted oak.

So thought the members of the Home League after listening to the delightful musical program rendered at the meeting held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Pressler on Highland avenue. Yesterday was also guest day and more than fifty members and friends were present at the meeting which proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever held by this popular club.

The meeting opened with a scripture reading on friendship and neighborliness by Howard Sclanis. This was followed by the roll call to which each member present answered with the name of the guest she had brought, this serving as a delightful way of making the guest acquainted with all present.

During the business sessions which occupied the forepart of the afternoon it was decided to send books and magazines to the state penitentiary and reformatory. The club also endorsed the movement for state highway policemen.

The musical program arranged for the afternoon included two selections by the Cyrowski Trio and two vocal solos by Mrs. O. J. Deltzer. An interesting paper on "Old Fiddles and New Fiddlers" written by Mrs. E. H. Dailey was read by Mrs. Charles A. Zell. Mrs. Lena Kline Reed recited in her usual charming manner, "The Song and the Rose" with piano accompaniment by Mrs. John M. Stockham. During the reading Mrs. E. H. Dailey sang "At Dawning." Later she sang "At Dawning."

Following the program a pleasant social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Pressler and her assistant hostesses, Mrs. Harry Cranston and Mrs. J. H. Pick, served a dainty ice course. Miss Jane Pressler and Miss Elizabeth Dunn graciously assisted in passing the refreshment plates.

The members present included: Mrs. Fred Baker, Mrs. E. H. Dailey, Mrs. Joseph Dunn, Mrs. G. T. Elliott, Mrs. J. D. Jordan, Mrs. F. V. Knauss, Mrs. J. T. McCormick, Mrs. E. J. Page, Mrs. J. H. President—Marjory Moller.
Vice President—Jane Pressler.
Treasurer—Martha Spencer.

An enjoyable program was rendered during the social hour which followed. Virginia Webb played two pleasing piano numbers entitled "Morning Zephyrs" and "Sonata Pathetique", while Miss Rosalind Clark sang very sweetly "Underneath the Stars" and "A Dream." Test Huge British Plane In France

The first of the new torpedo-launching planes built by the Handley Page Company for the British Government has had its successful test flight at the Bourget (France) Aerodrome. The four wing spreads are movable in order to reduce the speed of the machine in the air and permit accurate launching of the torpedo. The motor of the plane is stopped over the target, and the machine becomes almost stationary until the torpedo is dropped, when the motor is started again.

An Indoor Circus is something new for the Portsmouth public. The affair is not to be an Indoor Fair, but a real Indoor Circus, which means the presentation of high class vaudeville acts, dances, animal acts and novelties.

The Board is to name the various committees within the next few days and active work on preparing a program for the seven days will then progress rapidly.

Tom Russell To Continue As Leader Of Blue Grass League

The Cincinnati Enquirer Friday said: President Tom Russell, of the Blue Grass League, was in the city yesterday spending the afternoon in a dentist's chair. He said that this was no more painful than conducting the affairs of the Kentucky circuit throughout a strenuous season.

At the meeting of the league in Lexington on Wednesday Mr. Russell was re-elected to the Presidency by a vote of five to one but asked to have his final decision postponed until the schedule meeting on February 7. It is practically certain that he will continue at the head of the league for another season.

Inheritance Tax On Towne Estate Is Being Discussed

The Chillicothe Gazette Thursday said:

The important question of whether the state of Ohio, and especially Lucas county, is to get the benefit of any inheritance tax on the one million to three million dollar estate left by the late Mrs. Harriet Nye Towne, was to be taken up Friday with the state tax commission at Columbus by County Prosecutor Marshall P. Fenton.

Fenton went to Columbus Thursday morning to attend a meeting of the state association of County prosecutors. While there he was to see the tax commission regarding the Towne estate and also State Game and Fish Warden Baxter on the local Walker plover shooting case.

Prosecutor Fenton will, on his return, inform Probate Judge Cutright of the result of his conference with the tax commission.

The Associated Press report from New York, where the will was filed, that the bulk of the estate consists of stocks and securities, adds special interest to the question that has been raised here regarding the inheritance tax as the tax amounts to from 5 to 7 per cent on such property.

If the estate amounts to a million dollars, the tax would run from $50,000 to $70,000.

If, under favorable conditions in Mexico, where the corporations are largely located, the estate should run up to a valuation of $3,000,000, the tax would amount up to from $150,000 to $210,000.

Row Aired; Rickey Fined

At a hearing in Municipal court Friday Oscar Rickey, former railroad detective, was found to be guilty of assault upon A. S. Winkel and Judge McCall passed him a fine of $10 and costs.

The hearing disclosed that the men became involved in an altercation Wednesday when Rickey objected to Winkel trespassing on his premises on Robinson avenue while constructing a cement walk on a three foot strip of land on the west side of Rickey's lot by virtue of an easement obtained at the time he bought a lot from the defendant a few months ago.

Winkel told the court that Rickey started on a rampage and after ordering him and his workmen away pulled up the grade stakes for the walk and then assuming a threatening attitude attempted to strike him with a policeman's "billy" club. Winkel declared that he had not even set foot on Rickey's land and asserted that the latter had continually made trouble for him since he had started the erection of a large apartment building there. Rickey denied that he had cursed or called Winkel vile names and eluded that the latter was the aggressor and brought on the trouble by pushing a panel of fence against him almost knocking him down.

One Feature Worth Entire Cost of Paper

That seems a strong statement to make, but we confidently believe that the great majority of the subscribers to the Portsmouth Morning Sun will agree that the DR. COPELAND ARTICLES are worth even more than the cost of the Sun per week. Dr. Copeland is one of the leading medical authorities of the country. He writes, every day for the Morning Sun, dealing with some topic of vital interest to the health of everyone. His articles afford a liberal education in health and hygiene. Try the Sun and see if this is not true.

This is but one of the many features in the Morning Sun. For instance some of the best cartoons are to be found every morning in the Sun. Probably the "best line of slang" in the country is used in "Our Boarding House." The Sun is growing. Why not help it along?

County Has Near Balance

Scioto County had a near balance of $1,032,000.00 on deposit in local banks Friday, according to a report of Treasurer Henry B. Ruel, who stated that the bulk of the funds were derived from the December tax collection which was recently terminated.

Auditor Roy Coburn and his assistants are now busily engaged in checking the tax books with a view of making distribution of the money to the various taxing districts at the February settlement.

Dispute Over Coal Shipment

The suit of the Blue Ash Coal Company against the Vernon Coal company has been assigned for trial before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court on January 30.

The plaintiff company sued on a claim for a car of coal shipped to the defendant company, which is a Hadden concern, which refused the shipment, claiming that the car did not contain the per cent. of lump coal specified under contract. Attorney Sherrard M. Johnson for the plaintiff and Attorney Mark Crawford for the defendant.

To Enforce Dog Law

But 1523 dog licenses have so far been sold for 1923 by Auditor Roy Coburn as compared with over 5500 disposed of last year, which is conclusive proof in the officials in charge of the enforcement of the dog law that many canines are roaming the highways and byways of the county without the necessary tin tag in violation of law.

A drive to compel all owners of dogs to comply with the law by purchasing licenses will be inaugurated by Sheriff Dunham and his deputies on February 1 and the warfare on tagless dogs and their owners will be continued with unabated vigor until every canine is within the pale of the law.

Dog owners, failing to secure the necessary license are subject to a heavy fine and the sheriff has been busy the last few days posting placards throughout the county containing the provisions of the law.

Blanks Arrive

Application blanks for the civil service examination to be conducted at the Courthouse on February 20 for the position of superintendent of the Scioto County Home, formerly known as the infirmary, were received Friday by Auditor Roy Coburn from the State Civil Service Commission and persons desiring to take the examination may secure the necessary blank at his office.

Ohio Furnace Laid Fine

Admitting guilt of misconduct in connection with disturbing a religious meeting at a church in the vicinity of his home in Ohio Furnace on the night of January 7 last, Jim Blankenship, 15 years old, son of William Blankenship, was fined $2 and made a ward of the Juvenile court when he voluntarily appeared before Judge Gilliland Friday. Other youths implicated in the disturbance have not been apprehended. The complaints were filed by William Bruce, a member of the church.

Hedge Released From Custody

George Hedge, who was sent to jail a couple of days ago in default of bond pending trial on a charge of neglecting his minor daughter, Minnie Hedge, was released from custody by Judge Gilliland upon his promise to properly care for the child and cause her to attend school. The court soundly lectured Hedge and told him he would have to suffer the consequences if he fails to carry out his promise.

Revised Plans For New Masonic Temple Call For Building To Cost $400,000

Revised plans for the new Temple presented to the Masonic Building Committee last night by E. W. Musselman of the firm of Pretzinger and Musselman, architects of Dayton, were approved and they will be presented to the Masons of the city at a special meeting Friday night, February 9th.

The plans call for a building costing $400,000. The structure is to be 104 feet long and 84 feet wide and will be 63 feet high, the height of an ordinary six-story structure. It will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 1100 and a banquet room that will seat 800. The banquet hall and bowling alley will be on the basement floor, which will be on a level with the sidewalk. The first floor will contain library, reading, office, rest, card and billiard rooms.

Above the big auditorium will be the lodge room with good sized floor space and seats for over 300 persons. The auditorium will be forty foot high and will have a good-sized stage.

The new structure as planned is to set back about 50 feet from the sidewalk and will be on a line with the east front corner of the high school building.

An effort will be made to have work started on the new Temple this summer.

Degree Work Given To 28 By Ellrose Temple

With over 100 in attendance, one of the best meetings in months was held last night by Ellrose Temple No. 504, Pythian Sisters when a class of twenty-eight candidates received degree work. The class was composed of new members obtained in the December membership campaign.

Mrs. Dora Lauffer, delegate to the District Convention of Pythian Sisters held last week at Jackson gave a splendid report on business transacted there.

Next Thursday night the losing side in the recent membership contest will banquet the winners and the new members. The committee in charge of plans for the banquet will meet at the hall next Monday afternoon at two o'clock to make final plans for the banquet.

Fourteen new members received in the campaign have not yet received degree work but they will be ex-

SCIOTOVILLE SELECTS HAUL DOWN IRONTON AERIALS

Playing the same brand of basketball on the Ironton floor as they showed two weeks ago on their own hardwood floor, the Sciotoville Selects last night triumphed over the Ironton Aerials for the second time this season, 24 to 15. The Selects played all around the Aerials, who managed to show a flash of team work now and then. The Selects presented a scoring machine that could not be halted, while the guards, Brown and Kent, of the Sciotoville five, held the Aerial forwards safe all the way. The lineups and summary:

Sciotoville
Powell RF
Courtney LF
Haugen C
Brown RC
Kent LG

Aerials
Murnahan RF
Marting LF
Jones C
Henry RC
Heald LG

Substitutions—Corns, Venz and Imes were alternately put in at forward positions for the Aerials; Murnahan and Jones alternated at center, and Henry and Bliekle went in at guard.

BASEBALL CALL-AT STATE
COLUMBUS, January 25.—First call for baseball players at Ohio State was sounded yesterday when Director L. W. St. John, who handles the coaching reigns of the Buckeye pill tossers, requested candidates for battery positions to report Tuesday afternoon at the athletic house.

The call this year is somewhat different from the usual one in that St. John urges that every eligible person in school who has had any baseball experience give his talent to the team. He also urged that any student who has knowledge of other students that are ball players, but who are too modest or timid to report, be reported to athletic officials.

HOD ELLER TO MANAGE
MT. STERLING, KY., January 25.—The Mt. Sterling Fans Association has been incorporated here and has taken the Blue Grass League franchise. Frank B. Wyatt was elected President; Lindsey R. Douglas, Treasurer; W. Hoffman Wood, Secretary; T. R. Hall, Marvin N. Gay and J. Miller Hoffman were elected Directors. Hod Eller, the Cincinnati world's hero, has been engaged to manage the team in this city this year. Training will open about April 1.

NEW YORK, January 25.—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight boxer who aspires to a title match with Champion Jack Dempsey was matched tonight to meet Jim Tracy of Australia in an eight-round bout in Philadelphia, Feb. 12.

Income tax forms for the use of individuals having incomes over $5000 for the year 1922 will be available Saturday. Newton M. Miller, collector of income revenue announced yesterday.—Ohio State Journal.

SPEAKING OF MATCHES
Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler in a finish fight for the lightweight championship would be a wonderful card, and so would one of the limit between Harry Greb and Tom Gilbons or Greb and Gene Tunney. Either of the latter would produce a new light heavyweight champion and Benny probably would be a tired light weight champion about the twentieth round.

BEAVER vs. NEW BOSTON
In the New Boston High School gym tonight the Glenwood III boys meet their old time rivals, the Beaver III boys and girls. The first game between the lasses is scheduled to begin at 7:30 sharp.

GAME IN OTWAY
A contest in the county high school basketball league is to be staged at Otway tonight when the Wheelersburg III boys visit the Otway floor.

Lancaster Hi Cancels Game Because Of Grip

Athletic Director F. B. McCumb of the high school received a long distance telephone message from Prof. Hickman of the Lancaster high school this morning saying that the Lancaster hi quintet could not be here for a game Saturday night as the team members, with about fifty per cent of the school pupils of Lancaster, were bedfast with grip and influenza.

The game is expected to be played here on February 17th or 24th.

Bullseyes Of Baseball

The Costliest Pitch Hit I Ever Saw—Bill Carrigan, a dangerous hitter, always at his best in a pinch, broke up a batting rally quicker than I have ever seen a player turn such a trick.

Usually some sensational fielding play or effective pinch pitching spoils a batting rally. Seldom does the batter, the pinch hitter, come to the assistance of the team in the field.

I have untimed any number of games in which a pinch pitcher would break up a rally on one pitched ball. Usually in such cases two were out and the batsman would be retired on the first ball pitched by the relief hurler. I have several times seen double plays made on the first ball delivered by a relief pitcher retiring the side.

To Bill Carrigan, in the role of pinch batsman, goes the credit of breaking up a promising rally on one hard-hit ball.

Boston was playing in New York. The Boston team was trailing by several runs and didn't seem to have much of a chance when the first half of the ninth opened. Then things began to happen.

The first three men up reached first in safety, filling the bases with no one out. Things began to brighten up for Boston. They seemed to be a chance to win a game that apparently was hopelessly lost. It was the pitcher's turn to bat.

Few pitchers are good hitters. Bill Carrigan was selected to act as pinch hitter and break up the old ball game. That is just what Carrigan did, but with reverse English. Instead of helping Boston, Bill played right into the hands of New York.

How did Bill do such a thing? Evidently long before he reached the plate, Carrigan had decided to hit the first ball pitched if it was over. The ball was a beauty—right over the heart of the plate.

Carrigan took a healthy cut at the ball as the shortstop made a dash for second to drive the runner back. The pitcher, instead of delaying his delivery so that the shortstop could get back to his position, pitched the ball at what seemed a most inopportune time.

If Carrigan had been able to hit through the spot vacated, all would have been lovely. Instead, he drove a liner a few feet to the shortstop's side of second base.

Had the shortstop been playing properly it would have been a clean hit. Instead, he ran directly into the path of the ball, made an easy catch, stepping on second, retired the original occupant of that base, and then threw to first, completing a triple play.

In all my experience it is the only time I ever saw a pinch hitter hit into a triple play on the first ball pitched.

Newark Heiseys To Play Selects Feb. 7

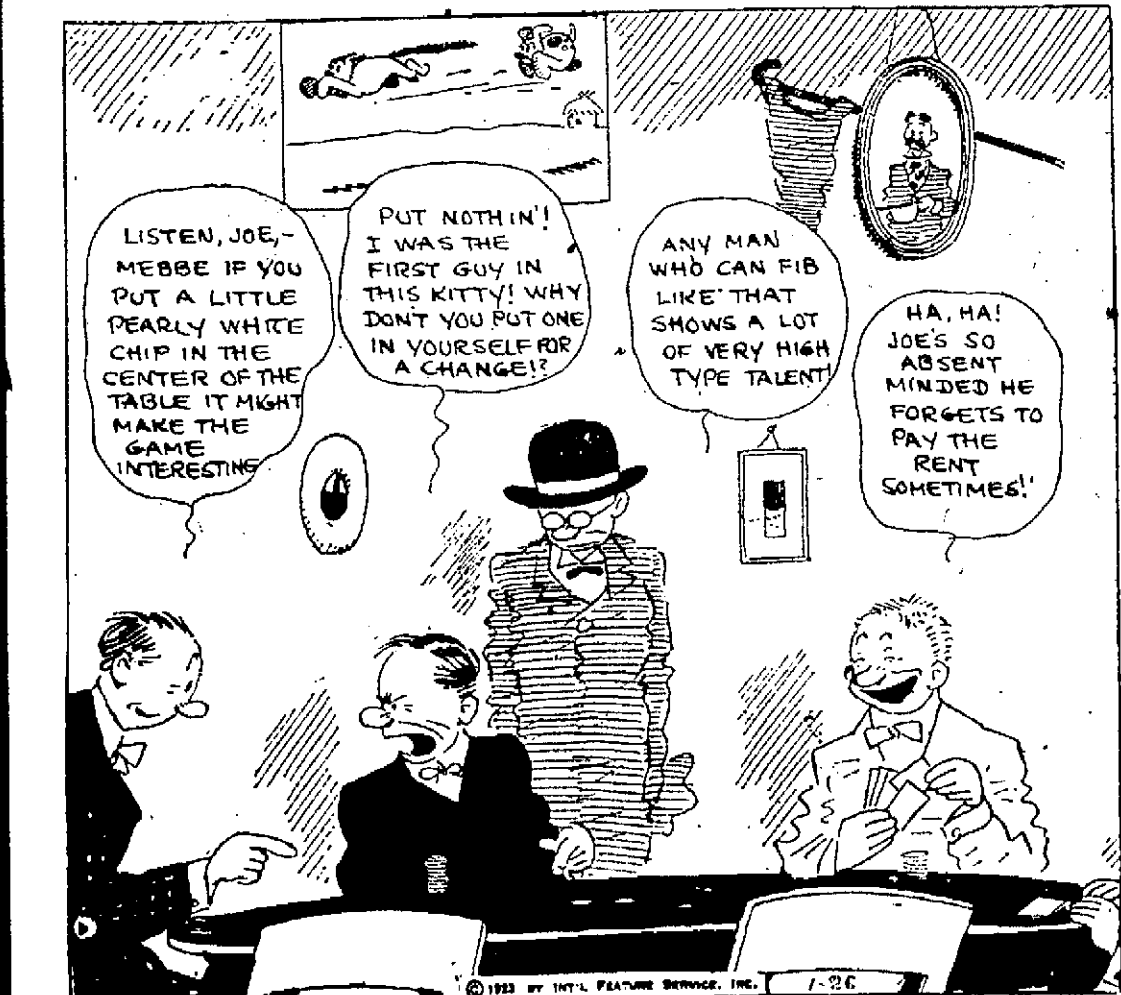

The Baesman Selects play their next game on Wednesday, February 7, in the local gym with the famous Newark Heiseys as their opponents.

The Selects won the state championship last year from the Newark five by one point in the last second of play. The Heiseys have sent word that they are going to regular the coveted title and mean to start on their march to the championship by defeating the Baesman crew on their own floor. That's nice!

THE VEIL RETURNS

MILADY is planning to drape lace curtains over her hat once more in the coming season, the alert style barometers indicate, for at a recent meeting of the American Lace Manufacturers Association the most prosperous year in a long time was forecast in the veil industry.

The cynic who remarks that women have done so much to their complexions in this frenzied cosmetic age that the last and best touch is to hide the result with a veil, is both unkind and inaccurate.

A veil does not hide, it heightens charm. A connoisseur who knows about such things remarked once that there was no method of occlusion quite so entrancing and certain to result in a proposal as a kiss through a veil on a dark corner in the rain, hiding for a brief second under a big black umbrella, and but this connoisseur is an old man now, and perhaps the youths of this generation have found a still better method.

Veils have been known in all ages, and nowhere, certainly, has their use lowered the respect for woman. The harem comes naturally to mind as the place in excelsis where veiled ladies—and veiled ladies only—were on view to the outsider. But we must remember that the veil serves also a useful purpose. It protects Milady. The sultan's harem is no more. His many wives have in fact been offered to such husbands as might care to have them. But the veil goes marching on.

HESITATION IN THE RUHR

ALMOST lightning-like changes in French policy in the Ruhr are not surprising, but encouraging. It would be surprising, and discouraging, if France were to pursue a headstrong course regardless of consequences. It is far better, for the world, that France is doing a side-step instead of a goose-step through the newly occupied territory. If vacillation make the French government appear as though it were walking on eggs Paris need not be embarrassed, for France is walking on eggs. It is gratifying that France recognizes that fact. Swift change of front may look like weakness, but it is strength.

It is inescapable that France should go side-stepping and back-stepping through the Ruhr. France went into the Ruhr with only a military plan for a widely-proclaimed economic occupation. Mathematically inclined gentlemen can work out the details of a military occupation in the quiet of the study of the hustle of an office, if given the maps. Military occupation makes its only human contacts through guns and bayonets. On the other hand an economic occupation must be arranged on the spot, and is dependent upon the working out of innumerable contacts with the occupied population. That is difficult and without useful precedents.

Of course an economic occupation can be successful only through the acquiescence of the people who are economically occupied. If they do not acquiesce, the only course is to compel. And to compel it is necessary to resort to something that looks very much like old-fashioned military occupation, without any camouflage. The French problem is to occupy economically without seeming to occupy militarily. That is a problem. It is not to be wondered that the French go side-stepping through the Ruhr.

In these days of press agents, few lights are hidden under bushels.

Credit is another of the things that get run down at the heel from over-use.

The nations will discover some day that gun barrels are not horns of plenty.

Who can remember when the girl who had goo-goo eyes was considered the most dangerous of the species?

Perhaps they predicted John Barleycorn's death because they foresaw how often he would be in automobiles.

It is claimed that woman has a vocabulary of only 800 words. That's because she so often says it with tears.

Organized movie actors clamor for a 48-hour week. It wouldn't do any harm if some of them had no work at all.

The average man kicks against buying mechanical toys for the kids and then goes out and gets gyped in an automobile trade.

A Chicago doctor says sweeping is the best exercise for women, but the only sweeping most women do now is down a theatre aisle.

Britons, who can have all they want, are drinking less beer. If Americans could get beer, they would not be satisfied without whisky.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The bluffs of Harlem. And still a few roving goats. Always a loafing crowd about a car barn. Delicatessen by scores. Brilliant and gaudy. Why do delicatessen dealers wear such long sleeves?

Four hurdy-gurdys in one block. One flight up, dentist's. Women who sit all day at windows. Immobile old men puffing pipes on stoops. Book-stalls. Baby carriage promenades. Circulating libraries. Little shops where neighbors gather.

Lexington Avenue's Black Belt. High-yellow strutters. Glistening white teeth. Beauty parlors. Pickineries with red hair ribbons. Each home has a musical piano. The Pullman Porter's Club. They represent the elite. Imitation-jewelry stores. Genuine laughter.

West Indians chattering French. Voodoo doctors with electric signs. The smartest cafe. Formal dress demanded. Apartment houses as fine as in other sections. And the Black Belt has its afternoon fashion parade. As many silk hats here as on Fifth Avenue. Ah! A razor shop.

Upper Broadway. Sidewalks crowded with children. Strolling musicians. Flats filled with Bagdad rugs and Mission furniture. And up here the janitor is a czar. Plump young mothers. Gigantic movie palaces. A real community spirit—with wondrous clubs and debating societies.

The strolling crowds along Riverside Drive. The Hudson alive with motor boats. Side-wheelers enroute to Albany. Gray battleships and batty yachts. The matchless beauty of the Palisades. And at evening they turn from gray to purple. An inspirational spot for fugitive verse. If it were not for the whiffs from the Jersey glue factories.

W. R. Hearst's apartment house home. The statues in front of Amelia Bingham's home need washing. The aristocratic iceberg section. The marble palace of a cigarette king. Bishop Potter's old residence. Now for a bus home.

He is a man of vast affairs and tangled nerves sent him to a hospital for a rest. He was incommunicado. For ten days he spoke to no one, save the nurses. Across the hall was a woman patient—and her room was filled daily with flowers, rare and beautiful. Through the open door the man could see them. He had never cared for flowers. But as time wore on he was consumed with a stinging hunger for a rose, and in the still hours of the night he crept across the hall. The next morning the nurse found him with a rose clutched tightly against his face—asleep. Tear spots were on the pillow. That day, the nurse told me, he left the hospital completely recovered.

The same nurse told me of a man whose name is recognized on both continents. He had a crown phobia. The moment he found himself in the midst of a lot of people, his heart palpitated and fear bathed him in a cold perspiration. One day he was with his doctor near a spot where a building collapsed and before they could get away they were hemmed in by thousands.

"Doctor, get me away, I'm dying," said the patient.
"Go ahead and die," said the doctor—and slipped out of sight. The patient's phobia was broken and when he finally got out of the jam he was cured and has never been bothered again.

Of course, this is a higher psychology that I do not understand—those two cases quoted above. I'm too poor to acquire such fancy ailments, but a number of years ago I had an amoring corn and went limping to a chiropractor. I left him with all pain gone. I found later he had removed a corn that had never given me trouble. And when I made the discovery the annoying corn began to kick up again with all the flair of a Missouri mule. Says Life of Youth

(The Measure)
I must take this beautiful thing and break it.
It is time I began.
I shall make a better thing of it. But nothing so beautiful!

—Nothing so beautiful as Youth Starting at the sting of a lash. Checks bright, chin high, back taut, and eyes ablaze. Outraged, betrayed, incredulous of pain, Of whips, of thorn-roads, in a world of gold. Reaching superbly for the whip to break it!

I must take this beautiful thing and break it.
It is time I began.
I shall make a better thing of it. But nothing so beautiful.

Three Words A Day

FORTUITOUS

Adjective: for tu-tus, accent on second syllable. Happening by chance; accidental; casual. (almost always advantageous.)

Borrow—'Sorry, old chap, but I am looking for a little financial sugar, again.

Why Business Is Now Dull

'I've got a lot of things I want to talk to you about, dear,' said the wife.
'That's good,' answered the husband; 'you usually want to talk to me about a lot of things you haven't got.'—Till-Bits.

The Hidden Power

Jones was busily wielding a paint brush. A would-be caller stopped. 'Is your wife at home, Mr. Jones?' she asked. Jones was equal to the occasion.
'My dear madam,' he replied, 'do you imagine for one moment that I would be doing this if she wasn't?'

Faithless Jack

He (continuing his narrative): 'And there I was close up to one of those Big Berthas.'
She: 'Oh, Jack, you horrid thing! And you told me you'd never look at a girl over there.'

GOOD MANNERS

ONCE on a time it was a rude man who failed to yield his street car seat to a woman. That time's past. It's no count against a man if he KEEPS his seat when a woman enters the car. But he shouldn't TAKE one if she is already inside and standing. She may properly ASK for a seat only if ill or much exhausted.

'Except that you seem to forget the saying that 'Two is company.'

Soft Answer Turneth Away Wrath

Wife—'My dear, you've forgotten again that today is my birthday.'
